

APC Battery Failure

A few years ago I invested in an APC with surge protector outlets on one side, regular back-up on the other side. ( and have my desktop and peripherals plugged in, given the many surges and power outages around here.)

My APC recently died. A new one costs retail around $50. or more

I took my lifeless APC down to Battery Power Store, and was able to get a replacement battery for just over $25. So the SHELL WAS RE-USED, saving me about half the cost of a new one.
