There once was this kid who wanted a car very badly, but his father didn't let him because he had long hair and got bad grades in school.

The kid started reading and studying more until he got his grades up to a B+. Then he went to his dad and said "I got my grades up, but I don't want to cut my hair, because I was reading the bible and it said that Jesus had long hair." His father replied "Yes, He did, but if you would've read a little further you would've found out that He also walked everywhere He went, too."
