

Beeps Heard On Startup

A long beep or several beeps heard when you startup means trouble usually, you need to investigate. The computer is sending you a message.

The beep codes are not the same for all makes of computers. You will need to know the BIOS that is in your computer. This info can be found in your computer's manual or at the manufacturers web site. Sometimes the manufacturer's site will also have a list of their beep codes. At the site below is a list of beep codes and a list of different BIOS and their beep codes.

Click here: BiosCentral - Award BIOS Beep Codes

Revised 6/29/2006 JMM