

Program Changes Tracked

Find out exactly what a program does when you install it by using the System File Checker's log feature. After installing a program, open the log by launching the System Information utility (Start/Programs/Accessories/System Tools/System Information).

Choose System File Checker from the Tools menu, click on the Settings button and then on the View Log button. The log will tell you exactly which files were added to your computer and which were updated with a newer version.
